

2

- The slowdown for coarse grain occurs because we are using mutexes. Running this code in parallel compels us to use mutexes, because all of the threads are accessing the same file(s) and writing to (some of) the same variables. It is therefore necessary for us to lock these files & variables from outside tampering until the given thread is done accessing them.